Get organized

Ensure loved ones can find your important information in case of an emergency.

No one likes to think about it, but if something happened to you, would someone else be able to find your important documents? If you're injured – or worse – you'll want a family member or an executor to be able to locate your financial and personal information, such as estate paperwork or health information, quickly and with the least amount of hassle possible.

Being prepared can help avoid potential delays or confusion during stressful times. Having important paperwork in order simplifies things for your loved ones or your executor, and can help ensure that nothing gets overlooked.

The best part is that it doesn't take much work to organize your documents. Simply creating special binders or folders and keeping it in a safe place will do the trick. You just have to make sure you tell your loved ones or your executor where they can find it.

Here's a list of information you might want to include.

Personal information (each member of your household)

- Full legal name and birth date
- Health card number
- Driver's licence and passport numbers
- Blood type
- Medications
- Allergies
- Health care provider contact information
- Other important contacts (daycare, school, specialist, in case of emergency, etc.)

Legal documents

- Will
- Powers of attorney (including directions on how to manage your financial, health care and end of life decisions)
- Trusts
- Birth certificate
- Marriage certificate
- Divorce certificate

Banking information

- Mortgage(s)
- Lines of credit
- Loans
- Credit cards
- Safety deposit box number and key

Investment account information

- Non-registered accounts
- Registered Retirement Savings Plans (RRSPs)
- Registered retirement income Funds (RRIFs)
- Tax-Free Savings Accounts (TFSA's)
- Registered Education Savings Plans (RESPs)
- Pension accounts

Insurance policy contracts

- Life insurance
- Disability insurance
- Critical illness insurance
- Long-term care insurance
- Health and dental insurance
- Home and auto insurance

Additional information

- Notices of assessment for recent tax years
- Business documents if you own or co-own a business
- Real estate deeds

- List of jewellery, art, collectibles and other valuables
- List of digital assets (social media accounts, data or digital files, websites, subscriptions, etc.)
*consider providing passwords to a trusted individual and/or executor

Contact information

- Advisor
- Accountant
- Lawyer
- Executor / Power of Attorney

Storing your documents

Once you've organized your information, you'll want to keep it in a safe place. Consider the following:

- Safety deposit box (accessible by a joint owner or executor)
- Filing cabinet
- Home safe

Dial –A-Van Announcement

Unfortunately due to our low ridership and shortage of volunteer drivers, we will not be operating the Dial-A-Van from May 1st until October 2022. We are very grateful to all those donors who have supported the bus in the past. Also thank you to those riders who have made use of the service. We are sorry we are unable to continue the service for the summer because our volunteers are all retired and feel they don't want to spend many days sitting waiting for calls which rarely come. Hopefully our ridership improves in the fall and we can keep our volunteer drivers busy. We will advise the public when we resume our service. Maybe with covid in the background our ridership will improve and if not we could lose the service in the future.
